

21st Century Librarians

21st Century Librarians for 21st Century Libraries

12th JANUARY 2021

ONLINE SEMINAR

09.30 - 14.00

It has been said that students of today are learning skills for jobs that currently do not exist. They are also considered to be digital natives; born into a world where electronic global connection is the norm and answers are available at the touch of a button – or swipe of a finger. The challenges for library staff are several: how can we cultivate our own skills to support students; how can we connect and engage with them using tools they recognise; what can we offer to entice them into the library world? The aim of this course is to introduce library staff to a range of methods and tools to help you support students in the world of 21st century technology.

Seminar agenda

09:30 – 10:45 Session 1: The role of the librarian – from curator to collaborator

- Skills needed for the 21st century – what skills are necessary for the librarian in the 21st century?
